2. "On Monday, 2 April 1979, at 8pm, at Privacy (the home of Privacy), the North-West London District of the Socialist Workers Party held a meeting of its Committee, under the chairmanship of Privacy. About thirteen persons attended.

3. Proceedings began with the news that, due to the resignation of Privacy from the SWP Industrial Section during the recent SWP Council, Privacy, the District Organiser, had been asked to replace him on a temporary basis and at least until the SWP National Conference this summer. Privacy stated that he feared that the move might become permanent, but in the meantime he would endeavour to supervise the District. (At this stage it is not clear whether Privacy will be 'doubling up' in his role as industrial organiser with Privacy since the latter has also been reported to be a replacement for Privacy - our report of 5.4.79 refers.)

4. It was decided that, until the date of the General Election, the District Committee would meet weekly. An industrial bulletin would also be produced weekly by the SWP Centre during the run up to the Election and would be distributed with the factory sales of the 'Socialist Worker' newspaper.

5. Comrades active in the Anti-Nazi League were afterwards urged to organise 'mass' anti-National Front leafleting by ANL members. In addition, it was agreed that 'mass' 'Socialist Worker' sales on the Sundays preceding the Election would be arranged by Paul GRAY, the District 'Socialist Worker' Organiser, and that the whole District should be asked to take part. Estates to be saturated would be the Chalk Hill Estate, Wembley, the Graham Park Estate, Burnt Oak and the South Acton Estate."
