UNDERCOVER POLICING INQUIRY

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

29 March 2017

PRESS NOTICE

No anonymity sought for Roger Pearce

The Inquiry has received confirmation that anonymity is not sought by or on behalf of a former police officer named Roger Pearce, who used the cover identity "Roger Thorley".

Roger Pearce worked as an undercover officer for the Metropolitan Police Service's Special Demonstration Squad. He is not a core participant in the Inquiry.

Background

The work of the Inquiry ranges across the full scope of undercover policing work and will look at the work of the Special Demonstration Squad, the National Public Order Intelligence Unit and police forces in England and Wales. The Inquiry will also examine whether people may have been wrongly convicted in cases involving undercover police officers, and refer any such cases to a separate panel for consideration.

The work of the Inquiry will fall into three modules:

- 1. Module one will look at what happened in the deployment of undercover officers in the past, their conduct, and the impact of their activities on themselves and others.
- Module two will look at the management and oversight of undercover officers, including their selection, training, supervision and care after the end of an undercover deployment. This section will also look at the law and other rules covering undercover policing.
- 3. Module three will make recommendations about how undercover policing should be conducted in future.
