

Core participants

Ruling 24

EN34

1. EN34 was deployed under the cover name “Lynn Watson” by the National Public Order Intelligence Unit into several groups between 2003 and 2008. Evidence about her deployment will be given publicly by her and, almost certainly, by individuals whom she encountered during her deployment.
2. She is a serving police officer. The evolution of her application for a restriction order in respect of her real and, initially, cover name has exposed differences of view and interest between her and the police force for which she works. She has a significant interest in the work of the Inquiry and fairness requires that she should be entitled to participate in it as a core participant. The need for her to do so has only become apparent relatively recently. She has not delayed unreasonably in making this application. I shall designate her a core participant in category [C].
