is an activist for the Socialist Workers Party (SWP). She is also asked to do the odd favour for Globalise Resistance, the London based anti-capitalist group.

, the only salaried activist for Globalise, trusts her judgement and considers her to be 'politically, very sound'.

Privacy

recently travelled to Geneva to attend the planning meeting for this year's European Social Forum (ESF) that had been scheduled to about the similar meeting being held in the same city for the G8 protests.

The ESF meeting was due to be held at the Syndicale Interproprernationale de travaille uses, 16 Rue de Chaudronniers in Geneva Old Town (all phonetic).

Privacy

is a featured author in this quarter's ISJ (International Socialism Journal) which is published by the SWP. Her article deals with the relationship between the anti-capitalist and anti-war movement.

Intelligence – Stop the War – Activity on the day hostilities commence

Last weeks 'Peoples Assembly' was attended by over a 1000 delegates. The slogan that has arisen out of the assembly is, 'If they start the war, we'll stop the country!'

Many local groups are reportedly planning walk outs and occupations of their schools and workplaces.

On the day hostilities commence, if time allows, there will be a will be a rally at noon on the south side of Waterloo Bridge on the corner of Stamford St & Waterloo Bridge.

This is apparently being supported by 12 local workplaces, colleges and Southwark UNISON. Southwark UNISON are holding their local rally in Peckham at midday and then will come to join the rally at Waterloo bridge.

The plan is then to cross the river, sometime between 2.00 pm and 3.00 pm, probably via Waterloo Bridge and join other protestors who will have hopefully begun to assemble in the vicinity of Whitehall. There will eventually be a further rally, police allowing, in Parliament Square.

Intelligence – Stop the War activity – Trade Union involvement

The Rail, Maritime and Transport Union of train drivers and Underground workers (RMT) have reportedly paid for the printing of 12,000 leaflets calling for action to be taken on the day war breaks out.

The Communication Workers Union (CWU) has gone so far as to call for all their members to take action on the day hostilities are launched.

Bob Crow, the RMT General Secretary has called for direct action to include factory and workplace occupations and sit down protests on motorways. Crow is in irregular contact with a number of personalities centrally involved in Stop the War activity, including and of Globalise Resistance.

Intelligence – Stop the War activity – Meet up points for the day on which hostilities commence

Both 'Arrow' and the newly styled 'Disobedients' have announced meet up points in London in the event of hostilities commencing against Iraq. The following has been announced by those groups via the Internet:

'In the event of an attack on Iraq, non-violent sit-downs will gather by the statue of Oscar Wilde in Adelaide Street WC2 (at the back of St Martin in the Fields church). St Martin's is the church that abuts onto Trafalgar Square.  Please note that this supplants earlier plans to gather on the south side of Trafalgar Square.

 7pm that evening if the attack starts before 4pm

 7pm the next evening if the attacks start after 4pm and 11am on the first Saturday after the attacks start. (unless the first sit down takes place on a Friday in which case it will be on the second Sat after the attacks start).
