

Future Activities: Non-violent siege of Elliott Automation - November 3/4th.
Demand for Democracy in N. Ireland Rally - 20th October.

Remarks:

The first half hour was taken up with two films, one dealing with the struggle of the 'heroic people of North Vietnam', and the other with the alleged shooting down of the 2,500th U.S. plane.

LITTLE briefly commented on the films and introduced the two speakers.

MANCHANDA and EARL spoke at some length on the background of the struggle in Vietnam against American imperialism, using the films as examples of the atrocities being committed by the American forces.

A general discussion followed during which Privacy took the opportunity of attempting to drum up support for the siege of Elliott Automation, and of strongly advocating her term of 'non-violent action' as an effective means of demonstration. The latter occupied much of the discussion from then on, most of those present strongly disagreeing with Privacy.

Two suggestions by visitors that perhaps targets other than the American Embassy should be sought for the October 27th demonstration were firmly squashed by all present.

Closing the meeting, LITTLE announced that the Committee /Rally would be supporting the Demand for Democracy in N. Ireland/on 20th October 1968 - for the purpose of arousing enthusiasm for the main demonstration the next weekend.
