1975 day of March 19 75

1. The following information has been received from a reliable source:-

2. A meeting was held by members of Up Against the Law on Friday 7 March 1975, at 66 York Way, N1. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the next issue of the magazine and future events.

3. Privacy opened the meeting and immediately asked for a volunteer to succeed him as editor of the magazine. Privacy eventually accepted the position of Copy Editor and Privacy agreed to take responsibility for general editorship. Privacy will remain responsible for graphics and layout with the assistance of Privacy. Privacy announced that sufficient money was available for the next issue to be printed and April was selected as a suitable time. He said that he intended to contact the firm of distributors, [redacted] responsible for the successful distribution of 'Underpassage', in an attempt to arrange terms for the distribution of 'UAI'.

4. Security was then discussed and it was agreed by all present that members should be made aware of the dangers when dealing with 'outsiders'. It was feared that plain clothes police officers might attempt to enter their shop premises in order to gain evidence.

5. Privacy called for members to immediately report any 'bent coppers'. Privacy claimed that she had already 'done one bad apple' and that she would not hesitate in taking similar action."

6. References of persons identified as being present:-
