1. The following information has been received from a reliable source:

2. "On Thursday 11 March 1976 at Wescott Lodge, Lower Mall, W6, the Hammersmith Branch of the IS held its regular weekly meeting between 8 pm and 10 pm. The meeting was chaired by Barry PAVIER and seven members were present.

3. The first item on the agenda was the 'Right to Work' rally (and the events preceding it) on Saturday 20 March 1976. PAVIER stated that there would be about 80 of the Manchester marchers assembling at Shepherd's Bush Green, W6 at about 8 am. After being given breakfast by members from Inner West London District, the march would then progress to the Albert Hall, where the rally would start at 1.30 pm. PAVIER said that he thought there would be about 6,000 attending the rally but he was not sure how many would be on the march.

4. The next items to be discussed were the social to be held on Friday 12 March 1976 at The Swan P.H., King Street, W6 and the jumble sale on Saturday 13 March 1976 at Tavistock Community Centre, Tavistock Road, W10. Both events have subsequently taken place without much financial success.

5. Discussion then turned to the 'Socialist Worker'. PAVIER said that there was a strong majority of opinion at the SW Centre for providing SW candidates at future elections, both on a local and national scale. All members agreed that the present Labour government was running the capitalist system more efficiently than the Conservative Party could and welcomed the news concerning candidates at future elections.

6. The meeting closed after a discussion on the above items."
