- The following information has been received from a reliable source:-
- "The inaugural meeting of the Paddington and Kensington Branch of the Palestine Solidarity Campaign was held on Wednesday, 25 March 1970, at the "Marquis of Clanricarde" public house, Southwick Street, W2 between 8 pm and 10 30 pm.
- The meeting did not, as was expected, deal with the nomination and election of officers, nor with the constitution and other organisational matters, but took the form of a social evening with informal talk between the twelve persons present.
- Nick BATESON, Chairman of P.S.C., was present and dealt briefly with the work the organisation does. He then introduced [Privacy] (ph) of Al Fatah who had just arrived in this country. [Privacy] spoke of his organisation's activities in Palestine and then answered questions from those present.
- It was decided to hold the next meeting on 8 April 1970 at the "Marquis of Clanricarde" public house when the organisational matters of the Branch would no doubt be dealt with.
